Sector: Falconry

Activity:

The company R. CONSULT specialises in training falcons.

The policy of the company is based on the best choice of birds and breeders, the best selection by an expert team in order to meet the clients requirements, and the best training conditions (the birds are given a rough time in very different weather conditions and locations).

R. CONSULT also trains a few birds, in order to give many satisfactions to their customers.

The purpose of R. CONSULT is to look for stamina and aggression. The best training is to hunt and that is what the birds do in different places, for different preys as well.

They accept also your best birds for moulting in modern aviaries with daily supervision of veterinarians. It gives the best possible guarantees that the birds will moult quietly and be ready and in top condition for the next season.

Be sure that the company training programs can be adapted to each of yours particular requirements. R. CONSULT specialise the birds in the quarry the customer really wants to fly and, after coaching, the birds will exactly perform in the way the customer expects.

The company already provides birds to airports and to falconers in Europe and the Middle East.
